DE ANZA COLLEGE STADIUM

De Anza College Overview

De Anza College offers a broad range of academic and career programs, cultural activities, sports and social events to about 24,000 students each quarter. Students can earn associate degrees in 64 fields of study and 96 certificates of achievement. About 40,000 friends and neighbors participate in De Anza's Community Education programs each year, including noncredit Short Courses and the Extended Year Summer Enrichment Program for youth.

Students attending De Anza enjoy the full college experience. They can join a club or start a new one; walk through time at the California History Center; visit the stars at the Fujitsu Planetarium at De Anza College; explore the diversified ecosystems of the Cheeseman Environmental Study Area; exercise in the Lifetime Fitness and Wellness Center between classes; or participate on a sports team – there are plenty to choose from. An education at De Anza isn't just about books and tests; students also discover a diversity of people representing cultures from around the world and learn how to become fully engaged, politically aware citizens. The college's Institute of Community and Civic Engagement (ICCE) helps to advance this goal.

Learning at De Anza College happens in state-of-the-art facilities, many funded through voter-approved Measures E and C construction bonds. The college is committed to environmental sustainability in building design and operations.

De Anza consistently ranks at or near the top among California community colleges in the number of transfers to CSU and UC. De Anza's top transfer institutions include UC Berkeley, UC Santa Cruz, UC Davis and UC San Diego as well as San José State University and San Francisco State University.

Mission Statement

De Anza College provides an academically rich, multicultural learning environment that challenges students of every background to develop their intellect, character and abilities; to realize their goals; and to be socially responsible leaders in their communities, the nation and the world.

De Anza College fulfills its mission by engaging students in creative work that demonstrates the knowledge, skills and attitudes contained within the college's Institutional Core Competencies:

- Communication and expression
- Information literacy
- Physical/mental wellness and personal responsibility
- Global, cultural, social and environmental awareness
- Critical thinking

Scholarship Awards

This year, hundreds of De Anza College students were awarded scholarships worth more than a quarter of a million dollars.

The President's Awards, in the amount of $2,000 each, are presented annually to two graduating students who have overcome significant adversity and shown great perseverance in seeking an education at De Anza.

Angelica "Angie" Esquivel graduates with an A.A. degree in Liberal Arts with an emphasis on Math, Science and Engineering. She will attend UCLA in the fall, where she will major in sociology and minor in public health. She was inspired to pursue a career in the health field in part because her father dreamed of her becoming a doctor and helping the less fortunate, and because she has witnessed firsthand the health care challenges experienced by the undocumented community. Esquivel's initial goal was to be a nurse, but she discovered that she would be ineligible because of her immigration status. When she learned from her counselor at De Anza about opportunities in public health, she realized that the field is an ideal intersection of her interests in health, politics, community involvement and social change. Esquivel says she wants to be an educator and advocate for the resources people need in order to live a just and healthy life. At De Anza, she was an active member of the Integral Movement for AB540 Students (IMASS) Club and served as legislative chair for the Higher Education for AB540 Students (HEFAS) program.

Shaila Ramos, graduating with an A.A. degree in Liberal Arts with a focus on Leadership and Social Justice, is transferring in the fall to UC Santa Cruz, where she will major in Peace and Conflict Studies. A student organizer in 2010 in support of the California Dream Act, her goal is to become a lawyer and establish a nonprofit to advocate for immigrant rights. Ramos served in leadership roles for both the IMASS Club and the HEFAS program and was elected executive vice president of the De Anza Associated Student Body (DASB) for 2011-2012. She also was an intern in the college's Office of Equity, Social Justice and Multicultural Education, the Institute of Community and Civic Engagement (ICCE) and the Intercultural/International Studies (IIS) Division. The initial group in which she participated at De Anza was the First Year Experience learning community. Ramos says she has been an advocate for higher education ever since she realized that her voice has power, and that as an undocumented student, she found her voice through being an activist and community organizer.

The A. Robert DeHart Memorial Scholarship, worth $2,000, is awarded each year in honor of the first president of De Anza College. DeHart served as president for 25 years, from the college's founding in 1967 until 1992.

Charlotte Deloche will attend San Jose State University in the fall, majoring in business administration management. She graduates from De Anza with a degree in Liberal Arts with an emphasis in Business and Computer Information Systems. A re-entry student, Deloche was laid off in 2008 after more than two decades of work in the semiconductor industry. She focused on obtaining a business degree in order to return to the high-tech workforce, also serving in 2010 as pro bono publicity chair for the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers (IEEE). She says that her passion is working at a one-on-one level with homeless members of the community. She has also been a volunteer for Special Olympics. While at De Anza, Deloche volunteered for presidential election campaign phone banks and served as a student member of scholarship application review teams. She is the first in her family to attend and graduate from college. Because of Deloche's influence, her 53-year-old sister is now a college student.

Academic Regalia

The academic costume worn today can be traced back to the European universities of the 12th and 13th centuries, where scholars and clerics wore hoods and robes to stay warm in unheated buildings. Use of the academic gown came to the United States in 1754 with the founding of what is now Columbia University. Until after the Civil War, students at most universities wore caps and gowns daily while in residence.

Academic dress consists of the cap, gown and hood. The mortarboard is a head-hugging cap topped with a square flat surface from which a tassel hangs. Styling of the gown varies according to the degree of the wearer. An associate's degree gown displays the college colors. A bachelor's degree holder wears a simple black gown with long, pointed sleeves. Those with a master's degree wear a more elaborate gown with slit openings in the sleeves. The doctoral gown has bell-shaped sleeves, velvet panels down the front and around the neck, and three velvet bars on each sleeve. In the hoods, the color of the velvet border indicates the type of degree held, while the color of the lining designates the official colors of the institution granting it.

Colors symbolizing academic areas of study are:

Commencement Speaker

Jose Antonio Vargas

Jose Antonio Vargas is a Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist and the founder of Define American, a campaign to elevate the national conversation around immigration. In June 2011, he publicly announced his own status as an undocumented immigrant in The New York Times Magazine, with a follow-up cover feature published the next year in Time magazine. He has moderated a White House “Fireside Hangout” on Google+ on President Barack Obama’s proposal for immigration reform and in February testified before the U.S. Senate Judiciary Committee.

“Documented,” a film Vargas wrote about his experiences and that marks his debut as a film director, premiered June 21 in Washington, DC, at AFI Docs, the American Film Institute’s documentary festival. He previously wrote and co-produced “The Other City,” a film based on his 2006 series for the Washington Post on HIV/AIDS in the nation’s capital. Vargas also reported on tech and video game culture and the 2008 presidential campaign for the Washington Post, where he was part of the team that won a Pulitzer Prize for its coverage of the tragedy at Virginia Tech. He then served as a senior contributing editor at the Huffington Post, where he launched both the Technology and College sections of the publication and created the blog Technology as Anthropology, which focuses on tech’s impact on people and behavior. Vargas’ work has appeared in the San Francisco Chronicle, Philadelphia Daily News, The Atlantic, Rolling Stone and the New Yorker, for which he profiled Facebook founder Mark Zuckerberg. He has been a guest on Nightline and The Colbert Report, among other TV shows.

Vargas taught a class on “Storytelling 2.0” at Georgetown University and served on the advisory board for the Knight-Batten Award for Innovations in Journalism, housed at American University. He is a graduate of Mountain View High School and San Francisco State University.
