Have you been abused or harassed?

If you or someone you know at De Anza has experienced sexual or gender-related discrimination, harassment, abuse, domestic or dating violence, stalking or bullying, here are some places to go for help.

YOU

PRIVATE (Information treated sensitively, may be shared)
- Responsible Employees
  - You can speak with any instructor, counselor or other college employee.
  - By law, will notify the Title IX Coordinator about potential violations
- Office of Student Development
  - You can report student misconduct to this office.
  - Conducts inquiries and oversees student disciplinary cases
  - Holds students accountable for misconduct

  Michele LeBleu-Burns
  Dean of Student Development
  408.864.8218

- Campus Police
  - Contact the police if you believe you're the victim of a crime.
  - You can choose to be accompanied by the Title IX coordinator or other advocate.
  - Investigates and may refer for criminal prosecution

  Police Substation
  Campus Center, Lower Level
  650.949.7315 (call 911 for emergencies)

CONFIDENTIAL (Information isn't shared, except in few circumstances)
- Health Services
  - Offers testing for pregnancy or sexually transmitted disease
  - Can refer you to a local hospital for a sexual assault examination
  - Can refer you for psychological counseling

  Health Services Office
  Campus Center, Lower Level
  408.864.8732

Title IX Coordinator
- You can report abuse or discrimination directly to this office.
  - Protects your rights on campus and during college-sponsored events
  - Provides accommodation for a safe learning environment
  - Coordinates and supports you in working with police or Student Development

  Laureen Balducci
  Title IX Coordinator
  RSS Building, Second Floor
  408.864.8945 or balduccilaureen@deanza.edu

Private or Confidential: What's the Difference?
- Private: Information that you share with a college employee (not a healthcare worker) may be shared with other employees to assist you and provide support in navigating the reporting process.
- Confidential: Information that you share with Health or Psychological Services is considered confidential and will not be shared with anyone else - unless you declare intent to harm yourself or others, or if you're under 18.

Learn more at deanza.edu/titleix